

PhD PROGRAMME in CLINICAL NEUROPSYCHOLOGY

The PhD programme in Clinical Neuropsychology follows a scientist-practitioner model with a comprehensive core curriculum that covers clinical duties (both outpatient and inpatient assessments), academics, and research.

The program aims to develop highly trained Clinical Neuropsychologists capable of meeting the standards of an Institute of National Importance, preparing them for roles in both secondary and tertiary care settings and for leadership positions. In addition to the rigorous core curriculum, there is a strong focus on producing high-quality thesis work.
